The SSAG 2013 Student Conference

Hosted by the Department of Geography
University of the Free State

Theme: Geography - a world for all?

The theme for 2013's SSAG student conference is 'Geography - a world for all?' This theme aims to bring together different sub-disciplines in Geography and the Environmental Sciences to promote collaborative multidisciplinary knowledge-making and discussion around geography in South Africa. Literally, this means bringing together students from different departments and universities to talk about their research. This includes thinking about forms of knowledge production, how knowledge is created in our studies in geography, as well as how knowledge is shared and presented between disciplines. This conference aims to create conversations between departments and disciplines to foster new academic relationships and to critically engage with the future direction of geography in South Africa.

Date: 25-27 September 2013, with conference registration and opening reception on 24 September at 18:00

Venue: Department of Geography, University of the Free State

Conference fee: This is a Free conference

Accommodation: You are responsible for your own accommodation

Questions or comments: Ms Mulalo Rabumbulu-rabumbulum@ufs.ac.za
